Curriculum development

Created two new assignments for NP-855 with intention to be AI-conscious, revised syllabus to clarify AI policies for course. One assignment is an individual presentation of a type of psychotherapy with very clear slide-by-slide guidelines for content, and the other is a case discussion with clearly defined “turns” to advocate for a method of psychotherapy for a case study client.	Spring 2026
Prepared all content for a return to Clinical as well as simultaneously prepared a reduced simulation schedule (from 28 hours to 11 hours) and adjusted and prepared all activities and scheduling to reflect all changes for an incoming cohort of an anticipated 138 students.	Summer 2025
Simulation: Revised the Restraint simulation activity to more clearly outline documentation, supporting TA Li Liu in taking ownership of the worksheet after a multi-hour review and discussion of the needs of the simulation. Met with student preceptee in IHP graduate nurse educator program, Leah Rothchild, for two 2 hour meetings to run a mock exercise and refine edits.	Spring 2025
Developed 2 new models of course delivery and proposed at a Prelicensure Faculty Meeting.	Fall 2024
Didactic: Heavily revised 7 lectures to streamline, and clarify medication Content based on student feedback. Met with student TA Fiona Tsang for 3 hours live and also sought input over email to review over a 4 week period.	Fall 2024
Simulation: Revised lateral violence and SUD simulations to use the more appropriate available space and time to facilitate the learning objectives, trained and supervised 17 term lecturers, 7 new to simulation delivery.	Fall 2024
Simulation: trained and supervised term lecturers and delivered new course content.	Summer 2024
Simulation: planned 4 new simulation activities, trained and supervised 6 new term lecturers new to simulation delivery, transitioned from 16 hours to 28 hours of simulation and to simulation as the primary clinical activity of the mental health nursing course.	Spring 2024
Created Somatic Disorders lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2023
Self-Care Integrated lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2023
Simulation: significant oversight, planning, and contributions to the substance and performance of a transition from 6.5 hours to 16 hours of simulation for the semester for NS511/NS663	2023
Change from “Nursing Process” framework to “Tanner Model” framework for all lectures associated with NS511/NS663	2023
Created Self-Care Part 1 lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2023
Created Self-Care Part 2 lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2023
Created Abuse and Violence lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2022
Created Neurodevelopmental lecture, associated learning activities and assessment for NS511/NS663	2022

Peers

Provided guidance, support, encouragement, and a detailed transition document to Michelle Harling, RN, as she prepared to take over clinical and simulation coordination for NS504 in Fall 2025. Met for ~10 hours prior to the formal transition to outline duties, scope of role, best practices and available resources. Remained available for as-needed spot-consults in Fall 2025 without formal recognition or workload.	2025
Provided support, peer review of new materials and training in processes to Megan Phillips as she taught NS504 didactic and Mental Health Simulation in Spring 2025.	2025
Provided supervision, support, encouragement and guidance, peer review of new lecture content to Ingrid Korbani, instructor in the prelicensure program, as her co-teacher in NS504 Mental Health Nursing Summer 2025. Met on average weekly before and during the course until August 2025.	2025
