As a graduate institution preparing future health professionals, the MGH Institute of Health Professions is committed to the highest standards of professional, academic, and scientific excellence. Our core values state there should be mutual trust and collegiality in our relationships with each other and those we care for in an interprofessional environment.

For the second year, CIPSI, the School of Nursing, and the School of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences have collaborated with the Office of the Provost and the Office of Student Affairs to compile an Institute-wide report of violations related to academic integrity. In releasing the data publicly, we intend to spark a conversation around the collective obligation to enforce our core values. Last year's academic integrity report is available from the link below as a way to measure progress in living up to our ideals.

The Office of Student Affairs recorded 34 violations of academic integrity, all reported by faculty members. Listed below are the specific types of violations along with the subsequent actions taken by the programs. All these incidents were resolved using the Institute's academic disciplinary process stated in the Student Handbook section of the Catalog under Student Rights and Responsibilities.

Violation	Number of cases	Action
Plagiarism	26	21 oral warnings
		5 written warnings
Cheating	4	4 written warnings
Collusion	4	2 dismissals
		2 written warnings

The Catalog contains more detailed information about how we define violations of academic integrity and the disciplinary actions they may trigger. You will also find resources about how to maintain academic integrity on the Faculty Compass section of our website. Each faculty member and student is held accountable for reporting observed violations of intellectual honesty. We encourage you to discuss the role you can play in strengthening our commitment to reflect these shared core values in all we do. Please direct suggestions or feedback to the Office of the Provost.
