POSITION DESCRIPTION:

20 hours/week

Research assistant to support ADVANCE Covid-19, an NIH-funded study of nursing home care during the Covid-19 pandemic. This is an ideal position for someone who wants to learn qualitative methods and work on an exciting, innovative study with an interprofessional team of experienced researchers. Data for this study will be collected remotely.

Duties and responsibilities: Provide project-based support for recruitment, retention, data management and analysis and literature review and dissemination.

Minimum requirements:
- Excellent oral and written communications skills, attention to detail, and strong organizational skills
- Ability to work independently at a distance and as a member of the team
- Prior research experience preferred
- Knowledge of NVivo, RedCap, and EndNote highly preferred

Research Assistant Salary: $13.00 per hour
